LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 26. The Democratic stale convention met at 9.30 o'clock this morning. The morning session was taken up chiefly with wrangling about minority and majority reports of the committee on credentials involving titles to seats of two delegations. The Clay men fayored the minority report and L was finally adopted, 445 ods. Senatur Lindsay, chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented the majority report of that committee.

It congra ulates the country upon the HARVARD COMMENCEMENT

BOSTON, June 26. Apparently the

The alumni were out in even greater numbers that even are at the members of the graduating classes of the college and the professional schools were seemingly and patriogism of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle.

Mr. Rhea offered a resolution providing that all that part of the majority report after the words "1802" be stricken out to make the platform simply endorse the Democratic platform of 1882. This constituted the third report of the committee on resolutions.

the grantating classes of the college and the professional schools were seemingly everywhere.

Besides the usual graduating exercises in Sanders Theatre the board of overseers had the regular commencement day meeting, the different college classes had spreads in the rooms of the dormitories round the "Quad" and the alumni ended the format observance of he day by the annual dinner laid in Membrial Hall. Isocorted by the graduating class, the President and fellows, overseers, faculty, toyled guests and alumni of Harvand College, proceeded shortly before tenoclock this moraling to Sarders' Theatre where the regular literary excretees of commencement are always. A large audience filled all the room not reserved for the olicers and students of the cyllege and when President's chair always, used on this occasion, there was but literary are reserved. the report of the committee of cre-dentials was incorrectly counted. A scene of the wildest disorder ensued. When the convention had quieted down somewhat, John S. Rhen spoke. He was opposed to endorsing Cleveland and used on this occasion, there was but little standing room lett.

The Latin salutatory was de ivered by Max Benkhinol, lot Roxbury. He was tollowed by Townseni Wash, who gave a disquis tain on 'The Irisbinan in recent fletion.' Then four dissertations were delivered as follows: "Points of View," ly Carleton Eldredge Noves; "The Rise and Fall of New Home," by Arthur Stanwood Pier; "Should the Municipil Franchise be placed on a property basis and city parks?" by Rotert Walcott.

The law school representative was Edward F. AcClellah, who spoke on bounty legislation and the spokesman for the dithe administration and declared that he came bearing the olive branch and willing to have harmony. All he asked was that the convention refuse to endorse the President and his Secretary of the Treasury and that it reaffirm the Democratic platfurm of 1892.

"When the Democrats elected Cleveland," he said, "they rushed from the shughter house into an open grave. If the convention endorses Gleveland and Carlisle, it should also endorse J. Pierband issue. Let us go to Lombard street and laud Rotaschild in our resolutions." Mr. Rhea's speech was constantly inter-rupted by bisses from admirers of the President and loud cries of "Sit down,"

Boston, June 26. The first official recognition which Harvard has made of the Oxford-Cambridge challenge to fin-vard and Yale has just been taken, when vard and Yale has just been taken, when the athletic committee met to take action upon it. Whatever the committee didwill not be given out, as Prof. Ames prefers the result of the meeting to be known from other sources. Harvard action has been sent to Yale, and it probably will not be known here until the message has been cabled to England. Although nothing official will be given out by the Harvard committee, it is safe enough to say that Harvard has declined to accept the challenge! This prophecy is based upon the opinions of men on the ieside who know the real motives and sentiments of Harvard authorities.
